

Suzanna J. Linton was born in Charleston, SC but grew up in rural Orangeburg County. At age eight, she tried to read The Secret Garden by herself. After following her mother around for a day, asking questions about the Yorkshire accent, she gave up, but that didn't deter her in developing a deep appreciation for books and the worlds to which they open. A few years later, she wrote her first poem, which eventually led her to writing fiction.

In 2002, she attended the summer program at the SC Governor's School for the Arts and Humanities, where she refined her poetry and wrote her first decent short story. In 2003, Suzanna began attending Francis Marion University, where she graduated with a Bachelor's in English.

Today, she continues to live in South Carolina with her husband and their assorted pets.

WWW.SUZANNALINTON.COM
WWW.TWITTER.COM/SUZANNALIN
WWW.FACEBOOK.COM/SUZANNAJLINTON

Lands of Sun and Stone Series
Willows of Fate, Book 1

All her life, Desdemona has seen things others haven't. Dragons, knights, dwarves, kids with three eyes. Heeding her mother's advice, she keeps silent about this and struggles through life, pretending everything is normal.

At her mother's death, Desdemona returns to a home haunted with memories but she is determined to not be shaken from what little normalcy she has. However, when her brother is murdered and she uncovers a family secret, Desdemona realizes that there is more to what she sees. Perhaps a whole other world, one that's willing to kill to have her as its own.

Amazon | Kindle | Barnes and Noble

"The Land of Sun was a magical place filled with interesting characters." ~ Amazon reviewer

"I'm hoping to see more adventures of Desdemona in the future and more of Ms. Linton's captivating style!" ~ Amazon reviewer

WWW.SUZANNALINTON.COM
WWW.TWITTER.COM/SUZANNALIN
WWW.FACEBOOK.COM/SUZANNAJLINTON

Clara

Sold into slavery as a child, and rendered mute by the horrors she suffered, Clara's life extends no further than the castle kitchens and their garden. Those who know about her just think of her as the dull mute girl who may be a little soft in the head, not knowing that she carries within herself a precious gift: the ability to see the future. This is a gift she keeps secret, though, for fear of persecution.

However, a vision prompts her to prevent a murder, shoving her not only into the intrigues and gilded life of the nobility, but also into a civil war brewing in her country. As events unfold, and she is drawn deeper into the conflict, she meets an old friend, makes a new one, and begins to unearth secrets better left buried.

Amazon | Kindle | Barnes and Noble

"If you're a fan of fantasy, I suggest you pick this one up." ~ Majanka, I Heart Reading

The Bookwurm Series

Helen Delacroix came to the small city of Florence, SC to get away from her mother and start fresh with an inheritance from her grandmother. But, it starting fresh isn't as easy for Helen as changing addresses.

She can see auras and manipulate how people feel. Because of this, no matter where she goes, she is a part of a community of supernatural beings: wizards and witches; telepaths and telekinetics; were-creatures and beings that were never human to start with.

In Florence, SC, in her little bookstore called The Bookwurm, it isn't always book lovers who walk through the door. Sometimes, it's people in desperate need of help. Sometimes, it's people looking to use her for her abilities.

And, sometimes, it's someone looking to harm...

Quarterly series available on Amazon.

Short Bio:

Suzanna Linton grew up in the extremely rural areas around Holly Hill, South Carolina. Her mother taught her to read at a young age, introducing a lifelong love of books and made her want to write stories of her own. She attended the SC Governor's School for the Arts and Humanities' summer program in 2002 and graduated from Francis Marion University with a Bachelor's in Professional Writing. Suzanna lives in Florence, SC with her husband, their two dogs, cat, and Betta fish. WILLOWS OF FATE is her second novel.

Sample Blog Posts:

Finishing a Novel: One Writer's Refection

Fan Fiction: Is It Really Publishing's Savior?

Inspiration: What Helps Me Write

Introverts: A Guide for Extroverts

MFA Programs and the Alternatives: A

Consideration

When We Betray the Trust of Those We Love

Quitting My Day Job to Live the Dream

The Novels I Loved Growing Up

Interview on Book-Delight.com

On Writing

Contact Information for Review Copies, Guest Posts, and Interviews:

Suzanna J. Linton

linton.suzanna@gmail.com

WWW.SUZANNALINTON.COM
WWW.TWITTER.COM/SUZANNALIN
WWW.FACEBOOK.COM/SUZANNAJLINTON